

The Use of Student Reflective Portfolios

September 7, 2007 with Cecilia M. Plaza

Overview

Reflective portfolios have been defined as the collection of evidence that attests to achievement as well as personal and professional development through a critical analysis and reflection of its contents. This session will provide factors to consider as well as “lessons learned” to guide schools and colleges of pharmacy as they implement student reflective portfolios as stated in Standards 2007.

